I. Laurence "Bill" Sears graduated from Lincoln College in 1903. At the request of Millikin University President Albert Reynolds Taylor, Mr. Sears became the first editor and business manager of the Decatur College & Industrial School of the James Millikin University's student newspaper. The Decaturian was first published in October 1903, one month after the opening of the Decatur campus.

Anna Dora Magill enrolled at Millikin University in 1903; and was a member of the university's first four year class, graduating in 1907.

Bill Sears and Anna Magill married in June 1908, and settled near Sullivan, IL. Anna Sears died July 18, 1948. Bill Sears died April 25, 1959.

Scope and Content Note

The Sears Collection provides insight into their lives as students at Millikin University. Their social occasions and extracurricular activities are documented in the ephemeral items and photographs that are part of the collection. Also of note is the item written by I. L. Sears describing the Decaturian from its very beginning. The collection offers a special look at the University in its infancy from a student perspective. A very small percentage of the collection consists of photographs that are from I. L. Sears' time at Lincoln College, as well as a blue and white pin from the school, located in the Miscellaneous folder. The majority of the photographs in this collection were taken by Bill Sears from 1903-1907, effectively chronicling the early years of the Decatur College and Industrial School. It includes many of the social activities that Bill and Anna attended together.
