Millikin University Student Learning in the Spanish Major By Eduardo Cabrera, Ph. D. Department of Modern Languages June 26, 2012

Executive Summary

The Modern Languages Department supports the mission of Millikin University in preparing students for professional success, democratic citizenship in a diverse global community, and a personal life of meaning and value. In the context of the Spanish major, the mission of the Department is to produce graduates who achieve the following four learning outcome goals:

- (1) Students will demonstrate proficiency in speaking, listening, reading, and writing in Spanish.
- (2) Students will demonstrate an ability to engage in meaningful interactions in Spanish with people from other countries.
- (3) Students will demonstrate an ability to analyze and conduct research on works of literature from the Spanish-speaking world.
- (4) Students will demonstrate their comprehension and appreciation of the diversity of the Hispanic culture and their understanding of the social, historical, political, and cultural contexts of the Spanish-speaking nations of the world.

The core curriculum begins with freshman-level courses in Beginning Spanish and Continuing Spanish, as well as a sophomore-level course in Intermediate Spanish, all of which establish a student's competency in Spanish and readiness to continue on with more advanced studies in Spanish. As a student's course of study within the Spanish major continues, he or she engages more specific on focused areas of study in Spanish conversation and composition, and in courses that deal with the culture, art, business, literature, film, theatre and linguistics of the Spanish-speaking world.

Part of the Modern Languages Department's ongoing revitalization is an establishment of thorough and ongoing assessment at the course and program level. It is hoped and anticipated that the listing of artifacts and rubrics here provided will be helpful in continuing to make assessment more systematic throughout the Spanish major and the Modern Languages area.

Goals

The purpose of the Spanish major is stated in four Modern Languages Department goals:

- (1) Students will demonstrate proficiency in speaking, listening, reading, and writing in Spanish.
- (2) Students will demonstrate an ability to engage in meaningful interactions in Spanish with people from other countries.
- (3) Students will demonstrate an ability to analyze and conduct research on works of literature from the Spanish-speaking world.
- (4) Students will demonstrate their comprehension and appreciation of the diversity of the Hispanic culture and their understanding of the social, historical, political, and cultural contexts of the Spanish-speaking nations of the world.

These Modern Languages Department goals match well with Millikin's University-wide learning goals:

- (1) Millikin students will prepare for professional success.
- (2) Millikin students will actively engage in the responsibilities of citizenship in their communities.
- (3) Millikin students will discover and develop a personal life of meaning and value.

The table on the following page shows how Modern Languages Department goals for the Spanish major relate to University-wide goals:

Learning Goal	Corresponding MU Learning Goal Number(s)
Students will demonstrate proficiency in	1 speaking, listening, reading, and writing in Spanish.
Students will demonstrate an ability to	1, 2
engage in meaningful interactions in Spanish with people from other countries.
Students will demonstrate an ability to	1 analyze, and conduct research on works of literature from the Spanish-speaking world.
Students will demonstrate their	1, 2, 3 comprehension and appreciation of the diversity of Hispanic culture, and their understanding of the social, historical, political, and cultural contexts of the Spanish-speaking nations of the world.

Students majoring in Spanish are required to take 21 credit hours of Spanish at the 300 level or above, including the capstone course SP480: Spanish Advanced Conversation and Composition. The prerequisite for taking a 300-level course is three semesters of Spanish-language courses.

The mission of the Spanish major is to prepare students for a career in teaching, for graduate studies in literature, or to provide the necessary Spanish-language skills for success in other fields.

Snapshot/Overview

Three full-time instructors and two adjunct instructors teach Spanish. The three full-time instructors include one Professor, one Assistant Professor and one Lecturer.

In December of 2011, Dr. Eduardo Cabrera, Chair and Professor of Spanish, was named by the College Board Chief Reader Designate of AP Spanish Literature for the 2012-2013 academic year.

The Spanish Major program has experienced major change in terms of its curriculum and requirements. From a complicated requirement of courses and sequence of courses, the Spanish Major was changed to a simpler requirement of seven courses beyond SP 223, Intermediate Spanish, including SP 480: Spanish Advanced Conversation and Composition (this capstone course was added to the curriculum in Spring 2005). This change improved the situation for scheduling as well as enhancing the students' ability to choose courses according to their career plans and academic interests. The Department continues implementing a communication-oriented approach to teaching. Every class was observed, and changes were recommended with the goal of adjusting to that methodology.

Lab attendance is now required of every student taking elementary language courses.

The Department continues using a communicative language lab for students who are taking Spanish 103 and also for students taking Spanish 114, which consists of group work with the coordination of a facilitator. Its main goal is that the students can achieve an advanced level of oral proficiency. Students spend an hour per week in the lab talking about the topics that are being studied in the language classes.

The Chair of the Department (Dr. Eduardo Cabrera) has been in charge of interviewing and hiring the tutors and facilitators for the lab. He has been also responsible of monitoring the functioning of the lab: the work of tutors and facilitators as well as the feedback from students attending the lab sessions.

The curriculum for the Spanish major consists of traditional courses in language, literature and culture, as well as practical courses like SP 330 (Spanish for Business), SP 340 (Theatre Performance in Spanish), and SP 350 (Study Abroad in Spanish) and SP 310 (Spanish for Health Professions). Those last four courses have been added to reflect 1) the tendency among Spanish programs across the country toward the inclusion of "practical" offerings, and 2) education within a global environment.

According to the information provided by the Career Center at Millikin University, 80% of students who graduated with a Spanish major (4) during the academic year 2010-2011 are professionally employed, while 20% (1) continue studying in graduate school.

Learning Story

The first-year curriculum in Spanish establishes the student's proficiency in basic spoken and written Spanish, through Spanish 103 (Beginning Spanish) and Spanish 114 (Continuing Spanish). The second-year curriculum, with Spanish 223 (Intermediate Spanish) confirms the student's readiness to proceed into more advanced junior- and senior-level courses that engage Spanish conversation and composition; culture, art, business, literature, film and theatre of the Spanish-speaking world, including Latin America, Spain, and U.S. Latino/Latina culture; and Spanish linguistics.

To complete the Spanish major, a student must take a minimum of 21 credits above Spanish 223, including the capstone SP 480: Spanish Advanced Conversation and Composition, from the following courses:

- Spanish 301, Spanish Conversation and Composition I;
- Spanish 302, Spanish Conversation and Composition II;
- Spanish 303, Culture of Spain;
- Spanish 304, Culture of Latin America;
- Spanish 310, Spanish for Health Professions;
- Spanish 320 (Art, Literature, and Film of U.S. Latinos);
- Spanish 321 (Survey of Spanish Literature);
- Spanish 323 (Survey of Latin American Literature I);
- Spanish 324 (Survey of Latin American Literature II);
- Spanish 330, Spanish for Business;
- Spanish 340, Theatre Performance in Spanish;

- Spanish 350, Study Abroad in Spanish;
- Spanish 402, Linguistics.
- Spanish 480: Spanish Advanced Conversation and Composition.

A Spanish Major Curriculum Map is offered as an appendix to this document.

A chapter of the national Spanish Honor Society Sigma Delta Pi was created, which makes possible for the Spanish major students to participate in cultural activities as well as in round tables to practice their oral communicative skills.

A radio show in Spanish Español en Acción was created, making possible for the students to participate as guests. Students may improve their listening and oral skills as well as their knowledge of the cultures of the Spanish speaking world.

The creation of the language communicative lab allows the students with a Spanish major to work as special tutors.

Double majors and the preparation for professional success:

One of the characteristics of the major in Spanish is that it supports students in their other field of specialization. All Spanish majors have another major. Most students pursuing another career use Spanish as a way to improve their work and, in this way, to become a successful professional. Spanish majors have the following first or second major:

Art Accounting Behavioral Sciences Biology Business Administration Management Chemistry Communication Education Marketing Music Nursing Political Science Theater

The capstone required course for Spanish majors, SP480: Spanish Advanced Conversation and Composition, provides opportunities for the students to make a direct connection between what they learned in the Spanish courses and the main topics in their second (or first) field of study.

Description of the capstone: Capstone course required of all Spanish majors. Students will compose and complete an individualized project and participate in an advanced dramatization demonstrating a high level of Spanish conversation and composition abilities.

Assessment Methods

For the assessment of the four learning goals the following courses will be used:

Learning Goals	Courses
1	SP 301 Spanish Conversation
2	SP 350 Study Abroad in Spanish
3	SP 360 Central American Literature
4	SP 303 Culture of Spain

The rubrics for those courses have been created (attached).

Assessment Data

The grading rubrics used to assess each learning goal have a maximum of 20 possible points. Those points have been divided for reporting purposes in the following way: Excellent: 19-20; Adequate: 13-18; Nominal: less than 13.

The students should be ranked "adequate," with a minimum of 13 points, if the learning goals are being achieved.

The following assessment criteria will be used to evaluate student progress in achieving the learning goals:

"Green light" (an acceptable level or clearly heading in the right direction and not requiring any immediate change in the course of action).

"Yellow light" (not an acceptable level; either improving, but not as quickly as desired or declining slightly. Strategies and appropriate adjustments taken to reach an acceptable level or desire rate of improvement).

"Red light" (current status or direction of change is unacceptable. Immediate, high priority actions should be taken to address this area).

Learning Goal 1: Students will demonstrate proficiency in speaking, listening, reading and writing in Spanish.

Table 1: SP 301 Spanish Conversation and Composition I

Rubric Category	Percentage of students in category
Excellent	60
Adequate	40
Nominal	0
Number of students evaluated	13

Total of Excellent and Adequate combined: 100%. Rating for goal 1: "Green light."

Learning Goal 2: Students will demonstrate an ability to engage in meaningful interactions in Spanish with people from other countries.

Analysis of Assessment Results

The analysis of the data shows that the Spanish major is in the right direction.

Learning Goal 1:

The assessment of the learning goal for the oral component of the Spanish Conversation course shows that the Department continues doing a very good job during the first semesters of the Spanish language courses, building a strong foundation for the upper division courses. The Spanish Conversation and Composition I course (together with the Spanish Conversation and Composition II course) is one of the courses recommended to be taken at the beginning of the major. Most of the students take that course right or soon after they take SP 223: Intermediate Spanish.

This is a very important result: 100% of the students at the excellent or adequate level. With the strong formation in oral expression in the Spanish conversation course, students are able to succeed in the other upper division courses. They will be able to communicate effectively in class, to participate in discussions, and contribute with their insights. The oral component of the course has also benefited from a stronger foundation in the first semesters of Spanish language courses. On the year 2005 the Department created a Communicative Lab, in which students taking the first two semesters of Spanish can practice the target language with the assistance of a facilitator (an advanced Spanish major student).

For assessing Learning Goal 1, dialogues have been used as artifacts. From the 13 students, 8 (60%) got a grade that falls within the category "excellent", and 5 (40%) got a grade that falls within the category "adequate".

Learning Goal 2:

Since the year 2004 the Department of Modern Languages has been promoting different Study Abroad programs: in Chile, the Dominican Republic, Spain and Argentina. In all the countries mentioned above Millikin' students have had plenty of opportunities to engage in meaningful interactions in Spanish with people from different social status. From the academic refined language to the street language, the students demonstrated their communications skills by interacting with professors, waiters, bus drivers, etc. It is also evident the confidence the students get by being able to communicate with native speakers in another country.

Assessment of the Study Abroad in Spain:

In Summer of 2011 6 students traveled to Spain, visiting the cities of Madrid, Avila, Salamanca, Sevilla, Córdoba and Toledo. Students participated in a number of cultural activities. They were able to immerse themselves in the culture by communicating with native speakers on a permanent basis. Before traveling students took classes on campus and wrote a report about a Spanish city. While in Spain, they wrote a diary in Spanish, in which they provided details about all the cultural activities they were involved in. In Madrid, students visited the Museo del Prado, one of the most famous in the world. They analyzed several works of art, and wrote a descriptive/analytical report on two of them. The group also visited the museum Reina Sofía, in which they had the opportunity of studying one of the most important art works in the world: Guernica, by Pablo Picasso. As part of the course requirements, students also interviewed two citizens of Spain and wrote down a summary and their conclusion of the interviews.

For assessing Learning Goal 2, a final report has been used as artifact. From the 6 students who wrote the final report, 5 fall within the category "excellent" (83%), and 1 within the category "adequate" (17%).

Learning Goal 3:

SP480 Spanish Advanced Conversation and Composition is the capstone course, and requires a near-professional written essay. Students worked throughout the semester in a research project, combining the knowledge they acquired in their two majors. The intensive work in that project started with the presentation of an oral and written proposal. Later in the semester students presented a draft of their research, again in both forms: orally and in written form. An advanced version of the essay was presented in the event Celebration of Scholarship, in which students made a power point presentation for the general audience. Finally, at the end of the semester, students turned in their final essay.

From the 8 students who participated in the class, 7 fall within the category "excellent" (88%), and 1 within the category "nominal" (12%).

Students in the capstone course had also the opportunity to work in groups on additional research work.

Learning Goal 4:

The Assessment for SP 303 Culture of Spain shows that students at this level of Spanish are able to understand and analyze the culture of Spain in relation to the foundations of the society through modern Spain. Students took advantage of the opportunity to read, discuss and analyze about the main historical times from Ancient Civilizations, to the Franco's Regime, to Democracy in the Modern Society, and the respectively artistically expressions and representations (Literature, Paintings, and other cultural artifacts) giving quality input to the class. As the students wrote essays in a variety of topics in historical, social, political, and cultural contexts of the Spanish speaking nation demonstrate their ability to process information in a research essay. SP 303 Culture of Spain is one of the most important surveys that introduce students to the bases of the culture not only of the Modern Spain but also understand the influence of Spain in Latin American Culture. The assessment shows that students reinforced their skills as they developed research skills such as apply concepts of Literature to analyzed the culture of Spain. Also their oral skills were reinforced through the preparation and performing of oral presentations.

Follow up and Improvement Plans

The Spanish major has been strengthened with the regular offering of practical, cultural and literature courses. The practical courses SP310 Spanish for Health Professions and SP312 Spanish for Radio Production are offered frequently, satisfying the needs of students. These courses allow students to have a very positive experience by putting in practice their communicative skills. The cultural (Spain and Latin America) courses and the literature courses (both peninsular and Latin American), as well as the more basic, Spanish conversation and composition, are offered every year.

The capstone course (required to all Spanish majors), SP480 Spanish Advanced Conversation and Composition, is being offered every Spring semester. All students who take this course make a research presentation at the Celebration of Scholarship event. This has been an important activity, not only to showcase students' skills to do research but also to show prospective Spanish major students what will be expected from them. That course allows for more integration of theory and practice, since students work on a special project relevant to their major. Those students who are double major will continue to be able to work in a project that put together the acquired knowledge in both fields.

Faculty teaching courses within the Spanish major will continue to meet to discuss assessment of the learning goals for that academic program.

Students who are majoring in Spanish will continue to have the opportunity to work as tutors and facilitators, developing their skills in those areas. This is an important experience especially for those students who are thinking to pursue a teaching career. It is equally important for the development of leadership skills.

The radio show "Español en Acción," transmitted weekly, will continue to serve students for improving their communication skills.
